

Some eggs

are not like others

Please hand this card to your grocery store manager or leave it at the customer service desk and let us know how they respond.

Dear Store Manager,

Studies show a growing market for humane food as the public becomes aware of how animals suffer on factory farms. Grocery stores like Safeway and Whole Foods are encouraging cage-free egg production – you can too.

I believe the production of eggs from hens confined in small, barren battery cages is one of the cruelest farming systems. Eggs don't have to be produced this way and your grocery store can help change this by purchasing more eggs that come from hens that can nest, turn around and stretch their wings and promoting it widely.

As a regular shopper at your store, concerned about the humane treatment of farm animals, I encourage you to be a leader in farm animal welfare, adopt a humane & sustainable food policy. I look forward to your response!

For more information, visit www.choosecagefree.ca

Name(s): _____

Address: _____

Email: _____

Other comments: _____